

JOSH MANDEL

STATE TREASURER OF OHIO

DAYTON ‐ State Treasurer of Ohio Josh Mandel announced today that registration has opened for the Dayton area Smart Money Choices conference, which will be held at Wright Patterson Air Force Base on July 22, 2011. Smart Money Choices is a free personal financial-planning conference series for all Ohioans presented by the Treasurer's office. There are six Smart Money Choices conferences scheduled for 2011 that are being held in regions across the state. "The goal of the Smart Money Choices conferences is to help empower Ohioans to take control of their finances so they can better plan for a successful future. Through this conference series, Ohioans from across the state can benefit from free access to qualified financial professionals and experts," said Treasurer Mandel. "We are providing Ohioans with tools to manage their finances, which in turn will improve not only their personal financial future but our state's economy."

Courses that will be offered during the day are Budgeting, Credit & Debt Management, Consumer Fraud, Estate Planning, Insurance, Investments, Kids & Money, Programs to Help Ohioans, Retirement Planning and Social Security.

The conferences include an opening session, panel discussion, breakout sessions taught by financial planning experts, and a closing session. Participants are encouraged to interact with presenters and ask questions. These all day conferences are presented from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
